

Cableyoyo

ULTRA-THIN CORD MANAGEMENT

HAVE YOU EVER NOTICED HOW ALL THOSE SMALL CORDS SUPPLIED WITH YOUR ELECTRONIC EQUIPMENT COME IN SIX-FOOT LENGTHS (1,8M)?

Probably six times what you actually need for connecting your laptop to your favorite device! And the result; a massive messy knotted tangle. Sometimes even damage.

Cableyoyo, an ingenious empty spool around which to wrap existing cords. It will take all low voltage chargers, USB, firewire, data and telephone cables up to 5mm (quarter inch) in diameter.

Cableyoyo also comes with an adhesive spindle. Stick this, say, to the back of a screen, under a desk, etc and then you can snap on and off the Cableyoyo whenever required elsewhere. They can even be stacked two-up by fixing the spindle to one of the Cableyoyos. A excellent way for always keeping cables together.

Two small inbuilt clasps hold the cord at just the right length when coiled.

BEFORE & AFTER

Cableyoyo is shown below with a camera docking station. The six-foot cord is entirely wrapped inside the Cableyoyo which is then attached to the DC adapter with the adhesive spindle provided.
